Kinrix Out of Stock

McKesson, the Vaccines For Children (VFC) warehouse and distributor, is currently out of stock of both the single-dose vial and prefilled syringe presentations of DTaP-IPV (GlaxoSmithKline's (GSK) Kinrix) due to manufacturing shortages at GSK.

GSK anticipates that this shortage will be resolved by July of this year. An alert will be sent out via fax and email when Kinrix supply is available for VFC order.

Kinrix is licensed only for the fifth dose in the DTaP immunization series and the fourth dose in the IPV immunization series among children 4 through 6 years of age. The alternative to Kinrix is to administer the single dose products of DTaP (GSK's Infanrix or Sanofi Pasteur's (SP) DAPTACEL) and IPV (SP's IPOL).
